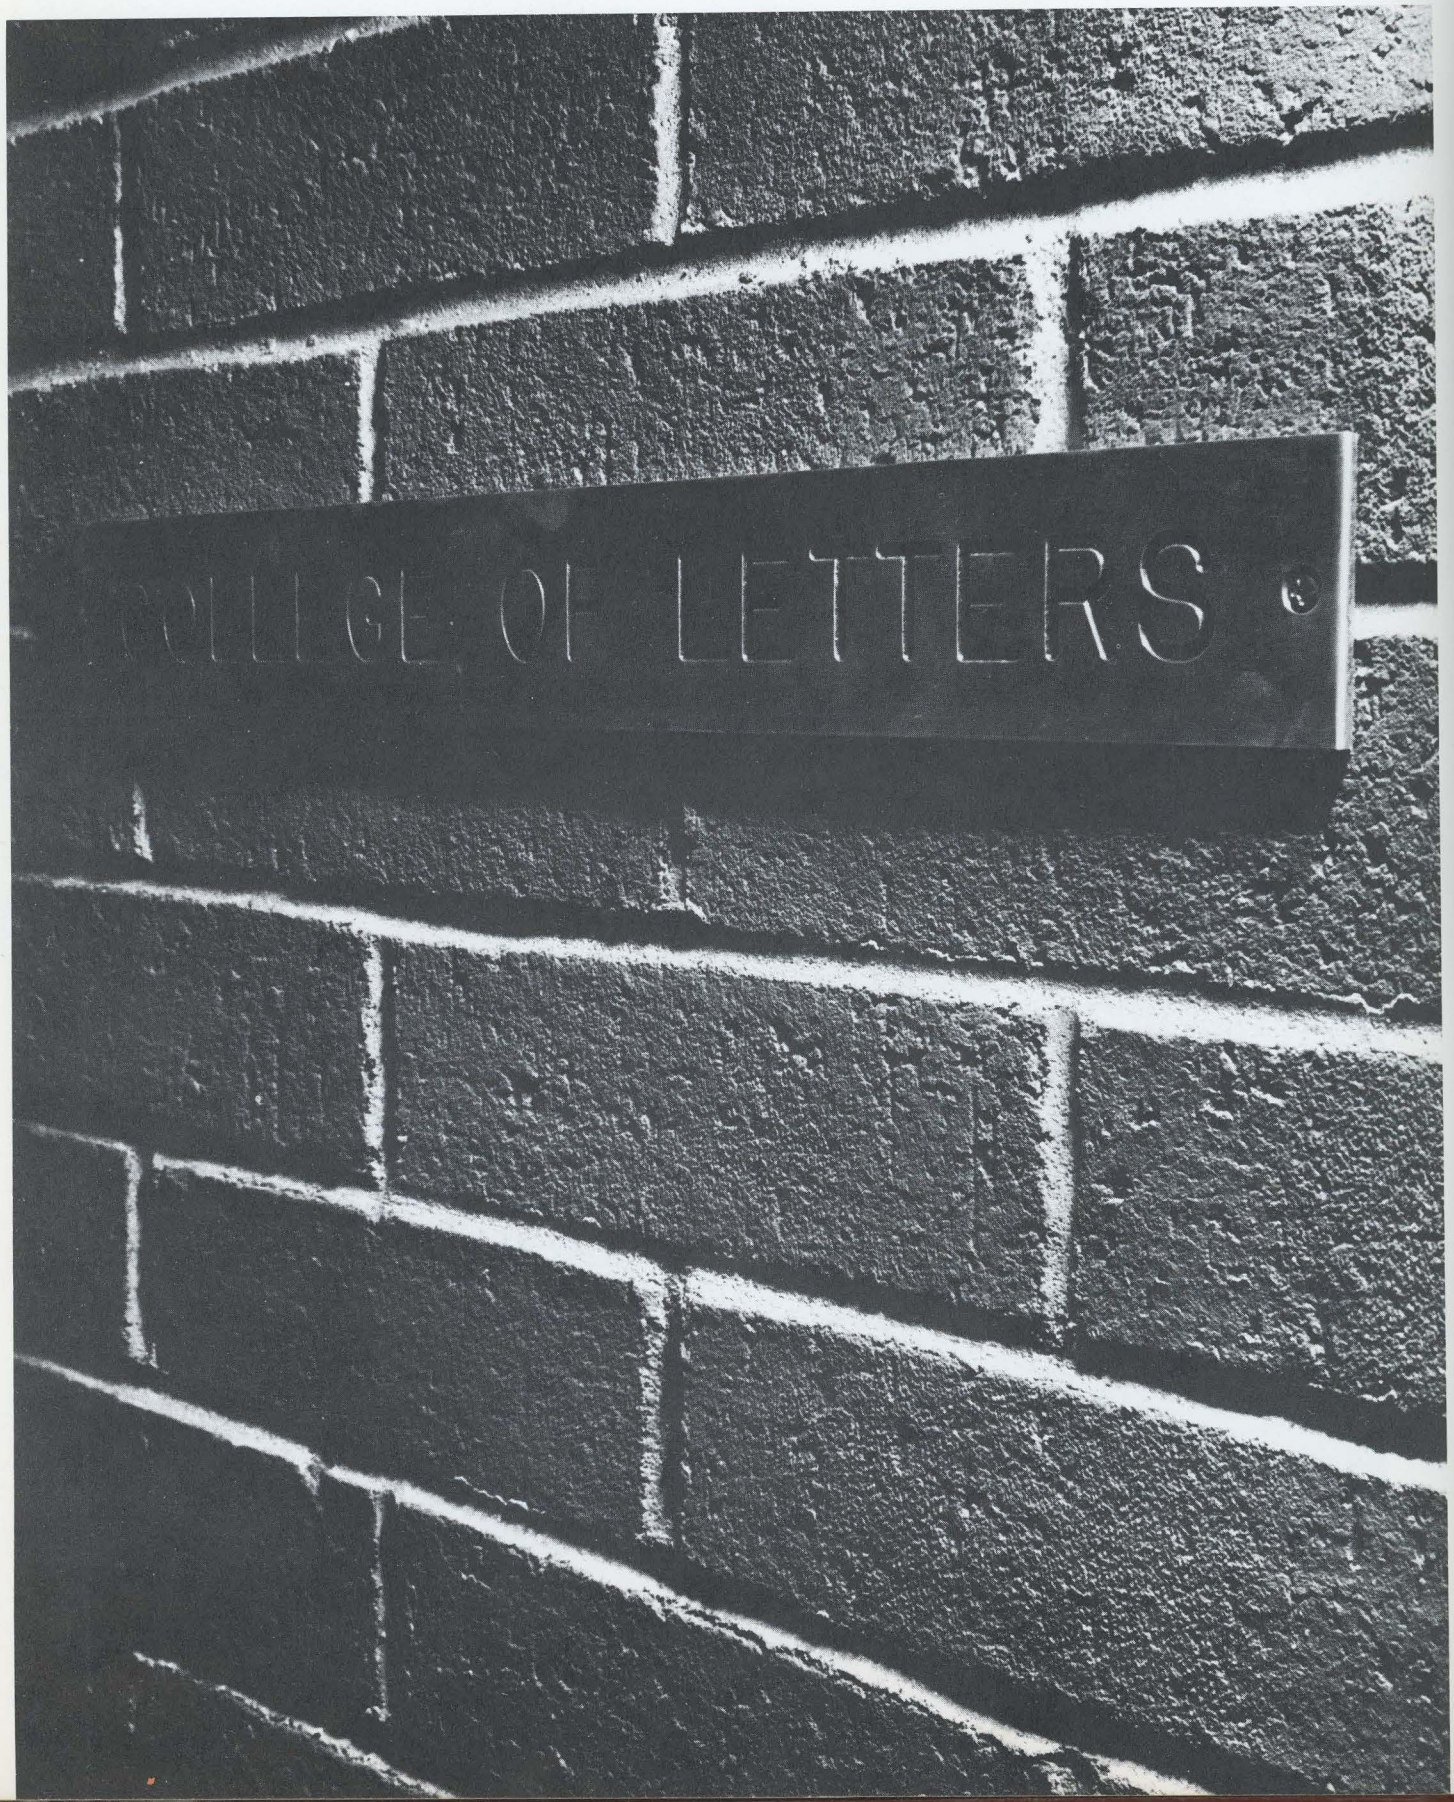
COLLEGE OF LETTERS FACULTY



Joseph M. Stokes, Dean of the College of Letters, came to Delta to develop a progressive, experimental educational program. He spent a year's study in drawing up the outline, examining other programs throughout the country, seeking the advice of leaders in the U. S. Department of Education, the N.E.A., such authorities as Harvard's David Reisman and Dean Howard Smith of U.C.L.A., and in particular leading Michigan educational authorities. The College of Letters is the result.

Dr. Stokes believes that Letters is hampered by a lack of community understanding, and is considered too visionary, but the opinions of educational leaders do not support those who claim that the program is not feasible. The most convincing evidence of the College of Letter's realistic foundation, says Dean Stokes, is the almost total involvement of the students and the high quality of their work.

HAZEL BATZER, Associate Professor of Humanities, completed her M. A. and Ph.D. degrees at the University of Michigan. She has had a year of postdoctorate research on an honorarium at the U. of M. She came to Delta from Eastern Illinois University. She has also taught at Morningside College, Iowa, at Texas Women's University, and at the U. of South Dakota. She has directed creative writing workshops and has worked extensively with drama and poetry groups. Dr. Batzer likes both art and music, and enjoys teaching and reading most literature, especially poetry and drama. Shakespeare is the one literary interest that she admits stands out above all others.

CHARLES A. BREED teaches Architecture in the College of Letters Humanities program, and Art courses in the College of Community Service. Mr. Breed received his B.S. degree from Western Michigan University and his M.A. from the University of Wisconsin. He has a wife named Ester and two children, Chris Ann and Susan Marie. It is rumored that he has a studio in the Northern parts where he retires to draw, sculpt, and paint.

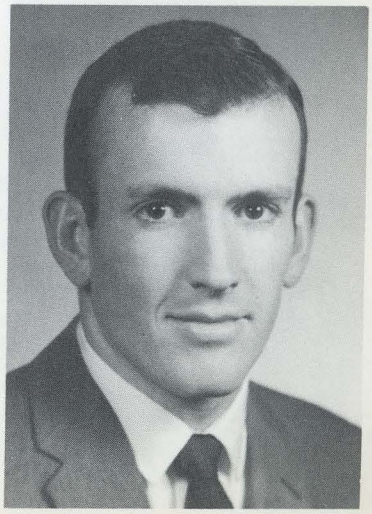
ROBERT T. CALEF is teaching a full load of classes: zoology, botany, physiological anatomy, comparative anatomy, Natural Science and embryology. He holds a B.S. and an M.S. from the U. of Illinois, and an M.A. from the U. of M. At the University of Illinois, he taught biology and did research in ecology, and taught zoology and dental education at the U. of M. His wife is named Jean, his daughter Kathy. Besides camping, fishing, boating, travel, and photography, he enjoys model railroading, music and electronic systems, and carpentry. He is a member of the American Society of Mammologists, American Ornithologists Union, Chi Gamma Iota Academic Honors, Sigma Xi, and the National Audobon Society.

BRUCE R. CORLISS is currently teaching classes in World Mineral Resources, and in physical and historical geology. Mr. Corliss formerly taught at Bay City Junior College after receiving his B.S. and M.S. degrees from the University of Michigan. He is married and has two children: Rebecca, 6, and Michael, 3. In combining such interests as photography, camping, and travel, he has produced a large collection of slides of the United States and Europe. Other hobbies are stamp collecting and model railroading. In addition to teaching, Mr. Corliss is Advisor to the Stones and Bones Club at Delta and a member of Sigma Gamma Epsilon, a geology honorary society, the Geological Society of America, National Association of Geology Teachers, A.A.U.P. and the Michigan Basin Geological Society.

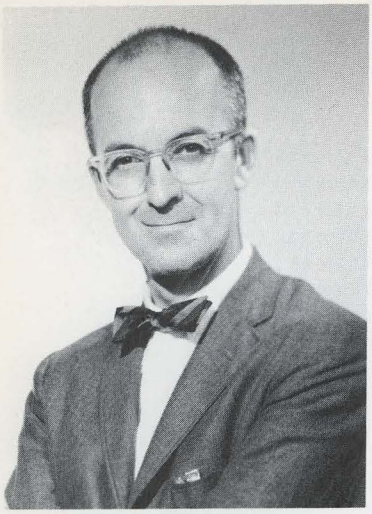
THOMAS CUTSHAW, a Social Studies instructor, has attended the Graduate School of Western Reserve University, Fordham University, Notre Dame University, (M.A.) and completed work on his Ph.D. at the Soviet Studies Institute at Notre Dame. He is a former language intelligence officer of the Air Force. Speaking Korean fluently, he served as interpreter at the Panmunjam truce negotiations. Mr. Cutshaw is the father of two children—Tammy, nine, and Julia, seven. His hobbies are bridge and piano playing. (He has played the piano since age four.) Mr. Cutshaw spends a good deal of time at the Pentagon as an Air Force Consultant on Intelligence matters.

A. L. DAVIS, Director of the Humanities Division of the College of Letters, acquired his Ph.D. at the University of Michigan. He says "All the rest would take too long . . ."

JOY DEDMAN, born in Old Hickory, Tennessee, received her B.A. in English from Berea College and her M.A. in general studies in the humanities from the University of Chicago. Her main interests are, and always have been, literature and music. At present she devotes most of her spare time to modern prose especially E. M. Forster, and modern poetry (Eliot and Yeats). However, if she had to name the single greatest poet in the English language, she would say John Donne. She has taught at Valparaiso University and is now teaching humanities and freshman English at Delta. Of Delta she says, "It's exciting and it seems good, but I cannot yet say with absolute conviction that it is the best way."



ROBERT H. DEVINNEY is a member of the math department of the College of Letters. After earning his B.A. degree from Albion College and two M.A. degrees from the University of Colorado and the University of Kansas, Mr. DeVinney taught at South Haven High School and Howell High School. He also taught at B.C.J.C. for one year before coming to Delta. He is married and has three children. His personal interests include spending time with his family, sports of all kinds, music, and mathematical recreations. His favorite pastimes are reading, golf, tennis, and camping.



WILLIAM GILLIS of the Humanities Division received his B.A. at Northeastern University, Boston; A.M. at Boston University; and his Ph.D. at Edinburgh University. In the past he has taught at Robert College in Turkey, and Moorehead State College, Minnesota. Dr. Gillis says he is interested in teaching only, but it is rumored that he sings some German drinking songs quite well.

DONALD HALL, assistant professor in the Natural Science division, received both his B.S. and M.S. degrees from Michigan State University. He has been an instructor at Michigan State and assistant professor at Ferris Institute and at Northwestern Michigan College. Mr. Hall is also director of Delta's planetarium.

ERMA JOAN HELLMUTH, instructor of elementary and intermediate Spanish, has earned degrees at the University of Michigan (A.B., A.M.) and the Certificado de Supificiencia from the University of Madrid. Before coming to Delta, Miss Hellmuth taught Spanish at Bay City Central and Bay City Junior College. She enjoys spending the long summer vacation traveling.

M. JEANNE KAHNKE teaches biology. She earned her B.S. degree in Medical Technology, M.S. in Physiological Chemistry and M.A. in Bacteriology at the University of Minnesota and her Ph.D. in Immunochemistry at McGill University. She has been employed at the University of Minnesota, McGill University, The University of Connecticut, USVA Hospital in Oakland, Cal. Doctor Kahnke is a member of Sigma Xi, the American Chemical Society, Society of American Bacteriologists, and is an abstractor for Chemical Abstracts.

JOHN R. KIRK earned his A.B. degree at the University of New Mexico and his Ph.D. at the University of California at Los Angeles. He is currently teaching the foundation courses in Western and non-Western civilizations, engineering speech, and freshman literature. He has taught at the University of California at Los Angeles, the University of Texas, the University of Chicago, Roosevelt University and Michigan State University. His hobbies are music, astronomy, radio and television production (he was a station announcer at KFAC in Los Angeles), and the philosophy of science. He is married to Joyce and has a son, Gregory.

JOHN S. KOSTOFF received his B.S. degree in mathematics from MSU and his M.S. in math with a minor in Russian Language from MSU. He worked as a graduate assistant at Michigan State from September 1960 to August 1962. At present he is teaching math and Natural Science here. Mr. Kostoff hopes to get his Ph.D. in mathematics within the next few years. He played a clarient in the MSU marching and concert bands for four years, and also sang bass in the MSU singers and choir. He spent 9 years at the National Music Camp at Interlochen—five as a student and four on the staff, and he is a member of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, a national professional music fraternity. Mr. Kostoff is single.

OLIVE L. LAGDEN, teacher of elementary and secondary Frrench, received an Associate in Arts degree from Bay City J.C., the A.B. and M.A. degrees from the University of Michigan, and in addition has taken summer courses at Western Reserve University, Boston University, and the University of Colorado. Miss Lagden has taught at Handy and Bay City Central high schools, and also at B.C.J.C. She lives with her 88-year old father and has two married sisters. Her personal interests are reading, travel and gardening.

SAMUEL LEVINE is at present teaching Natural Science in the College of Letters Science Division and Chemistry. Previously, he has taught at Western Illinois University. He received his B.A. from Brooklyn University, his M.S. and Ph.D. from Columbia. He is the father of three children—two boys and one girl. Dr. Levine's specialty is Physical Chemistry.

CARLETON MABEE is director of the Social Studies Division of the College of Letters. His degrees include A.B. from Bates College and Ph.D. from Columbia University. Married and the father of two children, he has taught at Swarthmare College, Olivet College, Clarkson College of Technology and Keio University, Tokyo. Dr. Mabee is a Pulitzer Prize-winner for a biography of Samuel F. B. Morse; he is also the author of The Seaway Story, a history of St. Lawrence—Great Lakes development.

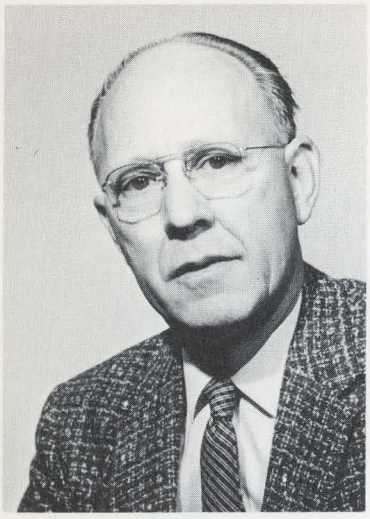
Married and the father of one child, Dr. Wagner is Vice-President of NAACP, a delegate to the Bay City Council of Churches, and enjoys piano playing and listening to jazz and concert piano music.

FRED J. WILLIAMS, chemistry instructor, has earned a B.S. degree from M.S.U., and an M.A. from the University of Michigan, with additional graduate work at the University of Chicago, Montana State College, and Oregon State University. He has had experience as a high school coach, public school administrator, and as an instructor at B.C.J.C. Married and the father of two sons, Mr. Wilson enjoys sports of all kinds.



GEORGE H. WILSON, a sociology instructor, holds an A.B. and an M.A. from Michigan State University. He has done additional post-graduate work on his doctorate at M.S.U, and has also been the principal of Kolb School. Mr. Wilson was Chairman of the Social Studies division at Bay City J.C., and served as S.T.E.P. Club advisor in 1960. Married and the father of three children, he was a C.D. Air Raid Warden instructor, and a Y.M.C.A. handicraft instructor.

ZANE E. WILSON, an instructor of mathematics, earned his A.B. at Otterbein College and his M.A. at Ohio State University. Besides seventeen years of high-school teaching experience, Mr. Wilson has also taught at Denison University, Bowling Green State University, Lawrence Institute of Technology, Colgate University, and Bay City J.C. Active at the Y.M.C.A., he enjoys paddleball and squash.

MARION L. WOODFORD, chemistry instructor, has received a bachelor of science from Central Michigan University and M.A. from Michigan State University. At Michigan State he did advanced work in chemistry in 1960. Included in his previous teaching experience is work in Fulton Township Schools (principal, teacher, and superintendent), Farwell Public Schools (principal and teacher) and Bay City Junior College. His favorite pastimes are gardening, hunting, and fishing.

WALTER D. YODER, instructor of painting, design, and art education, earned his B.S. and M.A. of art degrees from Michigan State University. He has also taught at the University of Toledo and Toledo Musuem. The father of one child, Mr. Yoder is educational director of the Saginaw Musuem. He has run the thirty—minute mile.

Carlton L. Krathwohl, Dean of Students, has worked as high school guidance director, teacher of history and economics, and held positions in counseling at Syracuse University, Western Reserve University, and the University of Buffalo.

The father of three children, he looks forward to the time when his son can participate in intercollegiate activities and football officiating (thus following in his father's footsteps). As a family, the Krathwohls enjoy hiking and skiing.

Dean Krathwohl expresses an interest and desire to experiment with new programs of student activities. He is pleased to see Delta develop some of the traditional activities but more so to see it venture into new areas.

ORGANIZATIONS

College Council

The College Council is the official student governing body at Delta. It is composed of a president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, and fourteen representatives from the student body. Each active club also has a representative to the Council. The official duties of the Council are to legislate, formulate, and govern student affairs within the framework of the Constitution. Student government is accomplished by means of several committees—the Activities Board, Judiciary Committee, Publications Board, Finance Committee, Elections Board, and Convocations Board.

The Pep Club, now in its second year of operation, is composed of students who are infested with a high degree of school spirit, and who like to think that this spirit is contagious. To spread it, they provide a core of highly vocal support at many athletic events, especially basketball games.

Delta Collegiate

The Delta Collegiate has evolved noticeably from a rather mundane, run-of-the-mill newspaper into a tight, well-administered, interesting paper. Though plagued by staff problems last year, the paper has managed to meet all deadlines and cover well the around-campus and off-campus news, at the same time, somehow, offending the least number of people possible.

Literary Magazine

The Delta Literary Magazine finally makes the scene this year. (After going through intensely short-noticed preparation last year, it was aborted by the staff.) The magazine features a large poetry section, including of course stories, art, and essays. The small staff has done well to produce in such short time Delta's first literary magazine.

Delta Debs

The Delta Debs pom-pom group was formed at Bay City Junior College and came to Delta as a regular in 1961. The group performs at pep assemblies, convocations, basketball games, and the Common Knowledge banquet. The girls strive for precision and accuracy in their formations, and wave huge bundles of paper called pom-poms.

Cheerleaders

The cheerleaders jump, twist, holler, gyrate, gesticulate (sometimes wildly), scream themselves hoarse, ejaculate, groan, march, sigh, cheer, cry, prance, gasp, squirm, screech, and generally try to infest the student body at basketball games with the same enthusiasm and spirit that makes them carry on so.

Standing, L. to R.: Carolyn Gagnon, Cheryl Geyer, Pat Wressel, Jan Moessner. Kneeling, Marsha Guldenzolph, Judy Schuler, Carol Monroe, Rosie McMillan.

Young Democrats

The Young Democrats is composed of students interested in the principles of the Democratic party. The purpose of the club are to serve the interests of college students; to organize activities beneficial to its members; to train students interested in political activity, and to stimulate student interest in political action and study.

Public Affairs Club

The Public Affairs Club is one of the most active on campus, having brought in a great many speakers, including: the Michigan Coordinator of the John Birch Society; Carl Braden, an integrationist from the South; several foreign exchange students; Fulton Lewis, former Secretary of the H.U.A.C.; and has sponsored several campus debates on controversial issues.

Circle "K"

Circle K clubs are college-level men's service organizations performing the same functions on the college campus which their sponsor Kiwanis clubs do in the community. The club executes campus service activities considered desirable by school authorities. Their motto, like the motto of the Kiwanis, is "We Build."

Young Republicans

The purpose of the Young Republicans is to acquaint the students with the party, and to provide an opportunity for political expression and recognition. The club has sponsored the showing of pertinent films, and has brought prominent speakers to Delta. The club plans to support the adoption of the newly proposed Michigan Constitution.

Drama Club

The Drama Club is a theatrical production group established to encourage the theatre and television arts at Delta, and to provide opportunity for acting, directing, stage design, and experience in the technical aspects of the theatrical trade. During the winter trimester the club produced a modern version of "Antigone," a greek tragedy written originally by Sophocles.

Contemporary Dance Club

The Contemporary Dance Troupe is involved in the promotion of contemporary dance, and expression of art interpretation through body movement alone; and in the fostering of interest and appreciation of this difficult media. The variety of themes utilized by the troupe in their presentations demonstrates the versatility and entertainment value of contemporary dance.

Women's League

The Purpose of the group is to serve the needs and interests of the women of Delta and to maintain high standards through cooperation with the administration and student organizations. The group sponsors "Common Knowledge," the Christmas Dessert, the Most Irresistible Man contest, and the Mother and Daughter banquet.

W. R. A.

The purposes of this organization are to promote fellowship among the college women through recreational activities, to stimulate a greater interest in athletics, and to give women the opportunity of membership in a national recreational organization. Activities include volleyball, basketball, badminton, skiing, skating, ping-pong, and tennis. Any Delta woman is eligible for membership.

Newman Club

The Newman Club, one of five Christian and one non-Christian religious organizations on campus, is the Catholic student group. The purpose of the club is to aid, in various ways, not only the Catholic students, but also the general student body. This is accomplished through character building in the areas of religion, education, and social activities. The club has sponsored so far a fudge sale, a hayride, and a Catholic retreat. They also sponsor non-campus-affiliated activities.

Vets Club

The Veterans Association of Delta has taken interest in developing a variety of activities which are designed to stimulate student interest. The Vets sponsored the annual Christmas dance, a Christmas party for underprivileged children, the Miss Delta contest, and the Snow Carnival. The Vets Club has been a leader since the inception of the school, and their functions have been characterized by an abundance of enthusiasm and school spirit.

The Stones and Bones club of Delta College is, as its name implies, a geology and archeology club. In this club, students learn basic principles of research in these fields, and about the past eras of our country through study of rock strata and artifacts. This learning is accomplished with the help of visiting speakers, both amatuer and professional in their fields, and by field trips to local rock quarries, museums, sites of old Indian villages, and other places relevant to archeology and geology. They have not yet, to our knowledge, discovered Atlantis.

Archery Club

The Archery Club was beset by difficulties in this, its first year, for, due to a late start (the weather was rather poor), the members did not get many chances to shoot. In the spring, however, the club will become more active, and give Mr. Conway's fine field course a good going-over, if possible.

Wesley Fellowship

Now in its second year at Delta,

The Wesley Fellowship, now in its second year at Delta, is the Methodist student group, and is dedicated to the task of promoting Christian ideals and actions both on and off campus. The group takes its name from John Wesley, who founded the Methodist Church in 1740, and was helped by a heroic band of preachers.

Business Administration Club

The Purpose of the Business Administration Club is to give the students a better understanding of the mechanisms of business, which are often very complex and variegated, and to promote a fellowship among all the business students at Delta. Students who have at least one business course are eligible. In November the Bus. Ad. Club entered the national business management games, which were to provide business clubs all over the nation an opportunity to test their proficiency. We did not fare too well, however, winding up several hundred thousand dollars in the red.

Activities Board

The Activities Board consists of four College Council members, including the vice-president of the student body, and students-at-large who are appointed by the president of the student body. The Board coordinates the student social activities and provides a student activities calendar for the benefit of the student body.
